KNOW WHAT IS COMING™

China Regulation and Legislation Database

As China continues its transformation into the world's next economic superpower, corporations from around the globe are looking to capitalize on opportunities.

However, as businesses plan new or expanded operations there, it is critical that they understand key environmental, occupational health and safety regulations to avoid issues with non-compliance.

The WorldRegs™ China Regulation and Legislation Database delivers quick and easy access to environmental, occupational health and safety regulations, both at a national level as well as all provinces in the People's Republic of China. This includes current and proposed regulations, standards and legislation, and allows users to search and report on the regulations applicable to specific industries, activities and products.

Use the patent-pending WorldRegs™ application to search and analyze the regulations for all of China, 24 hours a day, with the ease of a full-featured application designed specifically for regulation management.

FAST, ACCURATE AND EFFICIENT RESEARCH

Search by Commonly Used Categories

Search the database by any of the over 100 categories such as: Air, Environmental Impact Assessment, Energy and Climate Change, Hazardous Waste, Pollution Prevention, Risk Assessment and Safety Data Sheets. Analyze your company needs by established EH&S categories that will speed up your research and analysis.

More Advanced Searches

Use the advanced search feature to search for specific words or unique phrases in a country or province. Also, use the categories or fields in the regulation summary to narrow your search.

Multi-lingual Searching

Search the database in English or Mandarin Chinese. Enable your local company personnel to search the same database in Chinese.

Location-Specific Regulations

Search for any of the province regulations such as Beijing, Henan, Guangdong, Shanghai or Yunnan. Find the location-specific data, then search the national regulation lists for additional information.
